

Women in Leadership Program

Inspiring women to influence and impact

Delivered by Ms. Tracey Ezard, Professor Helena Teede and Associate Professor Jacqueline Boyle, with support from current leaders in healthcare and research, the purpose of this three-day program is to inspire, encourage and support women in healthcare and research to reach their full career potential. This program will explore equal opportunity, capacity, capability building and career strategic planning as well as providing supportive networks and partnerships.

Tracey is an expert in helping organisations thrive by focusing on building the key pillars of learning intelligence: growth mindset, compelling environment and authentic dialogue.

She builds the capacity of leaders to create an energy buzz about the work and alignment on the future plans. Tracey helps leaders and staff co-create and collaborate – and most importantly, act on it!

Helena is a clinician and academic strongly committed to leading and driving evidence into practice to ensure improved health outcomes. She has held a range of leadership roles throughout her career.

Helena is the Director of Monash Centre for Health Research and Implementation (MCHRI) at the Monash University's School of Public Health, and also the Executive Director of Monash Partners Academic Health Sciences Centre.

Jacqueline is Deputy Director of the Monash centre for Health Research and Implementation, School of Public Health and Preventive Medicine, and Head of MCHRI Women's Public Health and Health Equity Program.

She is a gynaecologist whose research field is Women's health and particularly Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Women's Health. Her clinical and research work is based in the Northern Territory and Victoria.
